BOAT CAPSIZES AT MEDINA LAKE.

G. A. Lucke, operator of the National Theatre in San Antonio, suffered a fractured arm when his cabin cruiser capsized in Medina Lake, throwing 15 San Antonio men and women in the water and trapping him in the cabin.

The cruiser capsized Sunday afternoon near the mouth of Elm Creek when a quick turn was attempted. Clyde Crow, 115 Montrose Avenue, San Antonio, who was in his speedboat near the scene of action rushed to the rescue. Together with Miss Elaine Daniels, who was his companion in the boat, he succeeded in getting those who appeared least likely to stay above the water in his boat. Among these was Lucke who was nearly unconscious.

W. C. Murphy, 817 Highland Boulevard, San Antonio, was on shore at the time of the accident, rushed his own boat out to help the victims. Help also came from one of the camping places along the shore. —San Antonio Express.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Across the portals of the home God has written in bold letters: Thou shalt not trespass! Marriage is an institution of God and He warns that it must be kept sacred when He says: "Thou shalt not commit adultery." One needs only to look into the shattered homes today and the crowded court dockets to see what is meant by this commandment. Or recall the sweeping movement begun in America recently to wipe out the dreaded venereal diseases and to give wholesome instruction on sex problems. You will see why Luther explains this commandment as he does in accordance with Scriptural truth: "We should fear and love God and live chaste and pure in words and deeds, and husband and wife each love and honor the other."

INJURED IN SAN ANTONIO.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCrea of Yancey and Mrs. McCrea's mother, Mrs. S. W. Worley of Uvalde, were injured in an automobile accident which occurred Tuesday in San Antonio on West Commerce street. The McCrea car collided head-on with one driven by Frank Salinas, 36, 219 Refugio street, according to San Antonio papers. Salinas told police he swerved onto the north side of the street as he was traveling east to avoid a collision with a car that swung into traffic from the curb just ahead of him.

Mr. McCrea, 41, driver of the car, suffered a fractured hip; Mrs. McCrea, his wife, suffered a fractured left shoulder, and Mrs. Worley, 66, suffered a fractured rib and possible internal injuries. They were taken to the Medical and Surgical Hospital.

SCHWEERS REUNION.

The Schweers reunion celebration was held at Castroville last Sunday at the Wernette Gardens. At ten in the morning the cars began to roll into the shaded pecan bottom and continued till every available place was taken. At 11 o'clock the people assembled in the hall where religious services were conducted by Rev. Payne, pastor of the New Fountain Methodist Church. This was the first Methodist Church established in Medina County and the Schweers ancestors were charter members of the organization of which J. A. Schaper was the first pastor. Rev. Payne's discourse was practical, and dwelt on the importance of unity in the home and an abiding faith in God, the Father of all creation. Who will some day summon us to that reunion of the blessed who have been redeemed by the shed blood of our Savior. The musical selections were in accord with the occasion, and added much to the solemnity of the hour.

In the afternoon the group reassembled for another hour of entertainment and amusement. A male double quartet thrilled the audience and brought them into unison and appreciation for the melody that was to follow. Then were introduced the in-laws who had broken into the fold since last year. Each responded with a two minute toast with much levity and fun. Each was given a hearty applause and voted welcome into the fraternity. Then followed a recitation by little Miss Jonell McMains, a member of the fifth generation of the Schweers family. An instrumental duet of the sons, and a vocal solo by a daughter of Eddie Mumme, also children of the fifth generation, were beautifully rendered. Then followed John Wiemers and family with a group of popular mountain music selections. John is a poet and a fiend on the fiddle. Their music and voices blended harmoniously as they personally demonstrated the "Hill Billy" music heard over the air. This was followed by a violin selection by Miss Irene Saathoff. Then were introduced about a dozen babies that the stork had left in the different homes the past year. A fitting climax demonstrating that posterity shall carry on the banner of Grandpa Schweer Balzen, and that his integrity, ambition and fidelity shall continue on in the hearts and minds of those for generations to come.

The festive board for noon and supper demonstrated clearly that hard times had been left behind far right around the corner. Everyone had a ravenous appetite and a happy disposition, and when the first was appeased the group mingled and mixed for hours getting acquainted, exchanging yarns and listening to stories of by-gone days. How sweet the memories, how beautiful the days of yore.

The Express Publishing Company of San Antonio had a staff of photographers present who took group pictures of the Henry, Heyo and William Schweers and Mimke Saathoff families. These pictures will appear, we hope, in the Express in the near future. The oldest person on the grounds was Mrs. Antje Muenink; the youngest child was that of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Senne, great grandchild of Mrs. Muenink. The happiest and most jovial person on the ground was Stanley Wall, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kothmann. He learned to know every family. 593 persons registered for the celebration.

CNE OF THOSE PRESENT.
IMMORTAL LOVE STORY.
The tenderest romance of our time lives again on the screen when "Seventh Heaven," the Twentieth Century-Fox production of Austin Strong's immortal love story, shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Colonial Theatre, with Simone Simon and James Stewart in the starring roles.

Adapted from the stage play produced and directed by John Golden, "Seventh Heaven" re-creates for screen audiences that star-crossed pair of Montmartre, Diane and Chico, two lovers who lift your heart to the stars.

As the little street waif, Diane, Simone Simon surpasses all hopes expressed for this sensational French screen find, touching the deepest places of your heart and emerging gloriously as the screen's newest and greatest star. Opposite her is James Stewart—tall, laughing, gray-eyed—as Chico of the valiant spirit and the shy, yearning love.

Montmartre, most colorful and exciting of all sections of Paris, serves as the background rich in picturesque setting and characters.

CARD PARTY.
The Children of Mary Sodality sponsored a card party at the school Friday night, at which the following were winners: Pitch, Annie Laura Renken and Mr. Herman Koch; High Five, Mrs. Linus Tschirhart; Bridge, Mrs. Alfred Schweers and Hugh Meyer; bunco, Frank William Graff and Shirley Schilling.

Entrance awards were made to Mr. L. J. Brucks, Mrs. Alfred Schweers, Mrs. L. J. Brucks, Mrs. S. A. Jungman, and Father Paul Potgens.

The hostesses served refreshments of iced tea and sandwiches to all who attended.

FOR SALE.
Registered Rambouillet Ram (papers furnished), extra good animal. Also one grade ram. Itc.

QUIHI NOTES.

And Abraham gave all that he had unto Isaac. Gen. 25:5.

Was Isaac waiting for that move? Impatiently? It's a legitimate and reasonable move and transfer, no doubt. Ever so many are speculating on that moment and leave no stone unturned to make that final bequest as much as possible coming their way, and after all is said and settled, the wind swerves into a different direction, and everybody hopes for an early sunset for the old gentleman. Perhaps it's the only thing worth while that he did during a long life, gathering, as the preamble and start for a generous scattering. Quite often his amazed eyes can see that process before they are fully closed. Many a father undresses before he is ready to retire, relying on flowery prospects and promises, and, again to his amazement, finds the coffin the only unbegged refuge. On the other hand, ever so often this final move is left in a hazy and unsettled state, leaving ample room for a free for all fracas that tears and severs, and feeds the well-known profession. What did the bequest mean to Isaac? Abraham was immensely rich, without being a close fist money-grubber and without having forfeited his soul for his pocketbook. Real estate beyond measure, and ready cash, yet candidly he could say, 'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands'. Those things never grew over his head and heart. And why deny it? Such possessions were of great importance to Isaac. They meant convenience, independence, chances for reinvestment and for distribution towards the greatest common good. How many fathers leave nothing but encumbered estates, threatening bankruptcy, debts and obligations, and a bad record, weighing heavily on the legatee, the offspring, in the same proportion as outgoing governments often bequeath a terrible burden on their constituents, for example, the debt burden for every individual before the war was $12; Wilson raised it to $250; Roosevelt, at the present stage, to $286. But Isaac, in addition, received personal property, in the strictest sense. There are often shallow streaks, yellow, bloody, cunning, dishonest streaks transmitted from father to son, traits and bents and characteristics, bodily and moral defects, sins of the father visited upon the sons and daughters. A terrible heritage, and how many fathers really care? All that he had, Abraham gave to his son. —A splendid heirloom in bodily vigor, mental sagacity, social disposition, personal repute, estates, funds and fortunes. Greater than these assets was the father's conviction and faith. "The Lord is my light and my salvation. Whom shall I fear?" also taken over by the son.

And so again we celebrated Father's Day. Many fathers were there, more were missing. Many others have had a better record as to numbers of children who were present to give thanks for their progenitors, their fathers, and as to the number of fathers who took time out for a brief survey of paternal obligations in the light of God's principles. Ordinarily, every position and profession in life needs preparation and guidance, should that of a father be excepted? As God's representatives on earth, a deep responsibility is laid on their actions and attitudes and personal example. And the best specimen are none too good for our commonwealth here below and beyond.

Mrs. Walter Grell enjoyed the visit of her mother from San Antonio for a few days last week.

Due to a mishap in falling and other ailments, Mrs. Harry Balzen is bedfast, with meagre prospects for an early recovery. The family has our sympathy and prayers.

Chicken thieves seem to have their heyday in the Upper Quihi community. Even the most hare-brained prowler of this sort knows the wrong of stealing, but these things are done in open defiance of law and conscience. And the Lord is not mocked in the long run by these sneaking violators that shun an honest living.

FOIL THE SUMMER BURGLAR.

Summer is here—and the burglar is getting out of his housebreaking tools. There are six burglary, robbery and theft losses for every fire loss, according to the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives. The vacation months, when so many residences are empty and unguarded, provide ideal working conditions for the housebreaker. He does not have to be wary of sleepers who may wake momentarily and sound an alarm. He need have no fear that a dog's angry barking will reveal his presence. He can work leisurely and thoroughly.

If persons who are leaving their homes unoccupied even for a short time this summer will take the following precautions, they will add greatly to their protection and peace of mind:

1. Lock securely all doors, windows or other entrances to the house.

2. Inform the police that your house will be empty. They can keep watch on it and try the doors and windows at regular intervals.

3. Take with you or lock securely all jewelry, silverware, furs, valuable clothing and other articles easily converted into cash by a thief.

4. Be sure to suspend all deliveries, such as milk, papers, mail. A heap of newspapers or milk bottles are sure signs that a house is unoccupied.

In view of the increasing widespread threat of the burglary hazard to property, local citizens should take extra precautions at this time of the year. That is the most effective way they can aid crime control in the community. —Industrial News Review.

THE FOURTH BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT.

In a recent address, Bernard F. Weadock, managing director of the Edison Electric Institute, discussed the "Fourth Branch of Government".

Under the Constitution, we have three branches of government, each with delegated duties and powers—the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial. The fourth branch has no name—but it might aptly be termed the Bureaucratic branch. It consists of a long list of quasi-judicial bureaus and commissions which have not only been empowered to administer properly passed laws, but in many instances exert a law-making function of their own.

The American Bar Association states that there are about 1,300 separate instances of transfer to enact laws from Congress to Administrative agencies, and that there are 73 Federal tribunals, exercising judicial power in 267 classes of cases. This fourth branch of government exerts its authority over great industries and affects the lives and livelihood of millions of citizens—yet it is hidden, and many citizens have never heard of it.

The growth of this power-seizing bureaucracy is one of the most dangerous developments of the times. In the interest of democracy, of liberty, of true Constitutional government, the fourth branch of government must be bridled and controlled. —Industrial News Review.

MEYER-HAEGELIN.

According to tradition, brides are the center of social interest this month, the latest being Miss Frances Elizabeth Haegelin, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Haegelin, whose marriage to Dr. John Henry Meyer, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Meyer, was solemnized Wednesday morning, June 23, 1937, at nine o'clock in St. John the Evangelist's Church. Rev. Paul Potgens performed the ceremony and officiated at the Nuptial Mass. Mrs. Volney Boon played the wedding marches on the organ, and Miss Mary Emma Finger, in her sweet soprano voice, sang Schipa's "Ave Maria" during the Offertory, accompanied by Miss Margaret Ann Knopp on the violin.

The Sanctuary, with its candle-lighted altars banked with ferns and white lilies and daisies, formed a beautiful setting for the impressive service. The center aisle was outlined with tall baskets holding fern and daisies.

The ushers, Bonnard Rothe and Charles Vincent Richter, entering together, preceded Miss Annette Rothe, the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore an old-fashioned frock of deep coral shaded silk marquisette, the full skirt edged with a pleated ruffle ending in a short train. The ruffle-trimmed bodice was topped by a bolero of the same material, having short puffed sleeves. The waistline was banded by narrow blue velvet ribbon, caught high in front by a cluster of blue, coral and yellow blossoms and tied with ribbon, the ends of which extended to the bottom of the frock. With this was worn an old-fashioned crownless poke bonnet of imported blue straw. The back was trimmed with a large bow of blue velvet ribbon, the streamers extending to the waistline. Satin slippers of deep coral completed her costume. She carried a round bouquet of blue delphinium.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in an empire style gown of lustrous ivory satin. Tiny satin-covered buttons extended from the deep V-shaped neckline edged in point de venise lace to the bottom of the skirt, which was made with a long fan-shaped train. Her tight fitted sleeves ended in lace trimmed flares over the hands. A finger-tip veil of bridal illusion, caught to her dark hair by a large cluster of orange blossoms, swept back to a very full graceful effect. On the white kid miscal which she carried was a shower of valley lilies tied with white satin ribbon. White satin slippers completed her costume.

Dr. Walter Meyer assisted his brother as best man. The groom, his attendant and the ushers were all attired in white. Their boutonnières were white carnations. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the country home of the bride's parents. Receiving the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Haegelin, the bride and groom, Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Meyer, Miss Annette Rothe and Dr. Walter Meyer. The rooms were tastefully decorated with summer blossoms. In the dining room feverfew and fern formed the centerpiece of the lace covered table. At one end Mrs. Julius Wurzbach served the cake, which was a ring-shaped confection iced in white and decorated with sugar-spun morning glories in pastel tints. Mrs. Hilmer Haegelin, assisted by Mrs. Tommy Schuchart, served the punch. A buffet luncheon was served at noon to about fifty guests.

Mrs. Haegelin, the bride's mother, was attired in brown printed chiffon over rust taffeta. Her corsage was Peruvian lilies. Mrs. Meyer wore navy blue printed chiffon with a corsage of Talisman colored gladioli.

The young couple left during the afternoon for an extended honeymoon to North Texas. The bride's going away ensemble was a grey alpaca redingote trimmed with red earth. With this she wore a grey felt hat and doeksin gloves, red earth shoes and bag. Her corsage was a cluster of valley lilies. After their return Dr. and Mrs. Meyer will make their home in Hondo, where the groom is a member of the dental profession.

The bride graduated from Hondo High School in 1935 and attended Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio for two years. The groom attended Schreiner Institute and Baylor College of Dentistry in Dallas and is a member of Xi Psi Phi Dental Fraternity. For the past several years he has been practicing the dental profession in Hondo.

NEW ACTION TRIO SCORE AGAIN.

Packed with thrills, feverish in pace, highlighted by running gun-fights, wild horse stampedes and illicit attempts at wholesale herd-stealing, "Hit the Saddle," latest in the series of Republic's "Three Mesquiteers" films, which show Thursday and Friday at the Colonial Theatre, is a thrilling Western feature.
As usual in this series, Bob Livingston plays handsome Stony Brooke, Ray "Crash" Corrigan is the stalwart Tucson Smith and Max Terhune again figures as Lullaby Joslin, an easy riding cowboy. This time, the boys ride herd on a bunch of illicit wild horse thieves and exterminate them after several breath-taking battles.

There's a beautiful cowgirl in the story, charmingly played by Rita Cansino. She adds the feminine zest to the story which makes the picture doubly attractive.

'ON THE LINE!' DEMANDS CIO

Steel Refuses to Sign Contracts . . . And So There's a Deadlock . . . Look to U. S. for Strike Settlement

Monroe (Mich.) Women Defended Their Husbands' Right to Strike.

Edward W. Pickard

SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

© Western Newspaper Union.

THERE is no issue of wages, hours or other material demands in the strike between the independent steel corporations and John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. The corporations have agreed to all of the demands of the unions—verbally. "Verbally"—that is the word which has for weeks kept thousands of workers in eight or ten states from returning to their jobs.

The C. I. O. demands that the corporations put their agreement in the form of a written contract. The corporations refuse. And the unions have refused to call off the strikes until they get the signatures on the line.

Union officials have taken the position that if the company officials are willing to agree orally to union demands they ought to be willing to confirm the agreement in writing. Lewis has demanded that President Roosevelt intervene to force the companies to sign. At a press conference the President refused to say officially what was his reaction to the demand. He did say—and emphasized that he was not speaking "officially"—that he could not see why the companies would not make written agreements if they would make the same ones verbally.

Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel corporation, explained the companies' stand:

"The reason the C. I. O. wants a signed contract is because such a contract would be the first step toward the closed shop and the check-off.

"Under the closed shop every worker has to belong to a union, whether he wants to or not. The closed shop is actually a 'deal' between the employer and the union whereby the employer helps to force every employee into the union. Under the checkoff the company takes unions dues out of the pay envelopes of all its employees and hands them over to the union.

"Does the C. I. O. contract preserve industrial peace? It does not. They have broken numerous contracts."

Federal Intervention Asked

IT WAS virtually certain that there would be some federal action in the steel strikes, with Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio and Mayor Daniel J. Shields of Johnstown, Pa., appealing desperately to the President for aid. Governor Davey, in a long telegram detailing the arguments on both sides, declared that the situation had gone far beyond the powers of one state to control. When a worker in the Johnstown steel mills was abducted by six strikers and stripped of his clothing in their automobile (he was later released), following weeks of rioting and bloodshed, the mayor decided that kidnapping was the last straw and appealed to Mr. Roosevelt.

Secretary of Labor Frances E. Perkins named a mediation board of three to meet in Cleveland and hear the cases of the union and the companies. On the board were Charles P. Taft, son of the former President and chief justice, a Republican and lawyer from Cincinnati; Lloyd K. Garrison, who served as the first president of the National Labor Relations board in 1934, and Edward F. McGrady, first assistant secretary of labor, and a known enemy of company unions, spy systems and the tear gas method of quelling strike riots.

In Monroe, Mich., where the C. I. O. union threatened to import thousands of pickets from Detroit, a band of several hundred deputized vigilantes, armed, kept the peace, aided by the police force of twenty. In Youngstown, Ohio, Johnstown and other cities vigilante groups were also being formed.

Steel Wants Its Mail

THE Republic Steel corporation filed in the federal district court in Washington a petition for a writ of mandamus compelling Postmaster General Farley to deliver parcel post packages to steel plants in Ohio which local postmasters have refused to deliver.

The petition charged that the local postmaster at Niles, Ohio, was refusing to deliver packages containing food and clothing and addressed to the loyal workers who were being housed inside the Republic plant. It charged that this refusal was made after the postmaster had reached an "understanding" with two members of the union.

"Having waited a week for a reply to our letter . . . to Mr. Farley and having received none, we have no recourse but to such legal action as is available to us under the circumstances involved," said John S. Brooks, Jr., counsel for the corporation. He said separate suits will be instituted in Ohio against the local postmasters involved.

Court Plan Walloped

THE senate judiciary committee made short work of President Roosevelt's Supreme court packing plan. Its report, in summary:

"We recommend the rejection of this bill as a needless, futile, and utterly dangerous abandonment of constitutional principle.

"It was presented to the congress in a most intricate form and for reasons that obscured its real purpose.

"It would not banish age from the bench nor abolish divided decisions.

"It would not affect the power of any court to hold laws unconstitutional, nor withdraw from any judge the authority to issue injunctions.

"It would not reduce the expense of litigation nor speed decision.

"It is a proposal without precedent and without justification.

"It would subjugate the courts to the will of congress and the President and thereby destroy the independence of the judiciary, the only certain shield of individual rights.

"It is a measure which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America."

Informed Washington correspondents were of the belief that the bill hasn't a chance of being passed, even with amendments. It seemed not unlikely that, due to the confusion and conflict over White House proposals and statutes, there would be an adjournment of this session of congress shortly, perhaps to reconvene in special session beginning November 1. The breathing spell would give the administration an opportunity to align its majority more solidly behind the President's desired legislation to improve the lot of the underprivileged.

Harry Loses 1st Round

DESPITE the pleas of Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, the full senate appropriation committee approved the

Harry Hopkins

Byrnes amendment to the relief bill, 13 to 10. The amendment to the $1,500,000,000 bill requires local governments to pay at least 40 per cent of the cost of all WPA projects, or else sign a kind of civic "pauper's oath." The South Carolina senator's amendment was seen as further evidence of the break between the administration and the conservative Democrats.

In the senate debate on the bill it quickly became apparent that Sen. Byrnes' "40 per cent amendment" would not carry. Sen. Joseph T. Robinson offered a compromise which would require states to pay 25 per cent of the cost of work relief projects. President Roosevelt had repeatedly made it known that he wanted no such rider on his relief bill, and it was Sen. Robinson's first break with the White House on an important issue.

Capital on the Move

THE Spanish loyalist government, after another terrific bombing of the city by insurgent airplanes of the German Junkers and Heinkel types, decided to move the capital from Bilbao to Santander, but to defend Bilbao to the death. The Basque battalions reorganized for a last ditch stand to protect the broken "iron ring" of the city's defenses from the forces of General Francisco Franco. The latter, it was admitted, already had penetrated the first line of fortifications near Fica and Larrabezua, five miles to the east. Several persons were killed and many houses destroyed by the rebel bombs and machine guns. Meanwhile the loyalists were claiming important advances along the Cordoba front.

Reds Rub Out 8

EIGHT Soviet Russian generals, including Marshal Mikhail Tukhachevsky, former vice commissar of defense, learned the wrath of the Kremlin. Condemned for treason, they were led before a firing squad and killed, by order of the military tribunal of the Soviet supreme court. The court only the day before had declared them guilty of conspiring with the military intelligence service of an "unfriendly" foreign power. Although the "unfriendly" power was never named by officials, correspondents in Moscow declared indications were unmistakable that Red leaders believe the power was Nazi Germany.

Most of the Russian capital was virtually certain that the eight, who had been denied appeal, had been put to death for an ambitious plot to rob the Soviet of its western provinces and turn them over to Germany.

The Soviet purge was followed by the suicide of Alexander G. Chervakov, forty-five-year-old president of the White Russian Soviet Republic, westernmost of the Soviet Union's republics. While it was said that he had killed himself "for family reasons" his death came almost immediately after his denunciation in a meeting as a plotter against the Communist party. Hundreds of thousands of suspects were reported removed from the Communist party rolls by the government.

Fiscal Dictator for France

WHILE a congressional committee in the United States prepared to begin an investigation of alleged tax dodgers among the wealthy, Vincent Auriol, French finance minister, gave broad hints to French millionaires that they, too, had better get themselves square with the tax collector. He revealed that the tax rate will be raised on the higher bracket incomes and on products which are government monopolies, such as tobacco, matches and alcohol. Measures will be taken, in France's financial crisis, to prevent frightened capitalists from exporting funds abroad.

Premier Blum

All this because the Communist party, reversing its long stand at the last minute, agreed to accept Premier's Blum's proposal that he be made financial dictator of the nation for six weeks. In that time he hopes to raise the 30 billion francs needed to finance the government throughout the year. Most authorities believe that six weeks will not suffice, that he will be forced to ask for an extension of his "full emergency powers." Blum hopes that the long awaited business revival will actually set in during that period, solving the whole financial problem automatically.

We're in the Money!

IF YOU don't think things are picking up, maybe the United States Department of Commerce can convince you. It has just reported the national income for 1936 reached a total of $62,056,000,000, and officials predicted that the figure for 1937 would reach $70,000,000,000. The all-time high was $78,632,000,000 in the dizzy boom year of 1929, and the all-time low $44,940,000,000 in 1933.

The department's report said that since 1933 the national income has risen more swiftly than prices and that the real purchasing power of individuals was much larger. Income, it said, increased 38 per cent from 1933 to 1936, while the cost of living advanced 8 per cent. The per capita income of employees last year was listed at $1,244, which was $58 more than in the preceding year and 83.4 per cent of the figure for 1929.

CIO Starts at Bottom

JOHN L. LEWIS aimed another blow at steel through the United Mine Workers, of which he is president. Workers in the captive mines (mines operated by an individual steel concern which is the sole user of the coal brought to the surface) in Pennsylvania walked out of the shafts and joined the steel picket lines. The purpose was to cripple further the steel plants now shut down or operating under difficulties while picketed; the immediate objective was the closing of the Cambria plant of Bethlehem Steel. The effectiveness of the walkout was a matter for dispute; plant officials claimed all departments were in operation. In some plants the miners outnumbered striking steel workers as steel pickets.

ANDREW GARLAND MARTIN.

Andrew Garland Martin was born at the town of West in McLennan County, Texas, August 13, 1894, and was, therefore, 42 years, 10 months and 4 days old when death closed his mortal career on Thursday, June 17, 1937. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin and was brought up in the faith and teachings of the Presbyterian church.

The World War swept him into its horrible vortex in his young manhood and on July 10, 1917, he enlisted in the Forty-second or Rainbow Division of the American Expeditionary Forces. He served a little over twenty-two months, being a member of Company B, Supply Train No. 42. His Division took active part in four major battles in France, namely: Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne (Chateau Thierry), St. Mihiel, and Meuse-Argonne. Then followed a period of service in a different sector and some five months with the army of occupation in Germany.

He was honorably discharged from the service on May 15, 1919, with the rank of Sergeant, and with a record that any ex-service man would be proud of—that of a model soldier. While uninjured in service, no doubt the hardships and exposures he suffered in the war, like many others, weakened his constitution and brought about his premature death.

Shortly after his discharge from the army, he came to Hondo in 1919, in the employment of the Alamo Lumber Company. He continued in the management of the local yard until his death.

On June 29, 1924, he was united in marriage to Miss Erna Leinweber of this city. To their union were born three children, Frances, Garland, Jr., and Joe, who, with their mother, survive to mourn the untimely passing of their father. Besides Mr. Martin's parents, who reside at Bay City, he is survived also by three brothers and two sisters. They are: Thelbert Martin of Wichita Falls, Mrs. C. M. Hair of San Antonio, Earl Martin of Pleasanton, W. F. Martin of San Antonio, and Miss Marie Martin of Bay City.

Mr. Martin was a member of the Hondo Methodist Church, both Masonic Lodges, the Order of the Eastern Star, and the Hal Jones Post of the American Legion. He took an active interest in all civic affairs and was a member of the Board of Trustees of Hondo Independent School District at the time of his demise.

His town has lost a popular and useful citizen and his family a kind and indulgent husband and father.

The funeral was held at ten o'clock Saturday morning, June 19, 1937. Rev. A. M. Foster, his former pastor and who officiated at his marriage in 1924, conducted the funeral services at the Horgan funeral home. He was assisted by Revs. W. S. Highsmith and James W. Askew, pastors of the local Methodist and Baptist churches, respectively. Dr. O. B. Taylor, Post Adjutant, served as spokesman for the American Legion.

Interment followed at Oakwood cemetery under auspices of the Masonic Lodge.

Among numerous expressions of sympathy received by the family was the following:

Dr. O. B. Taylor, Adjutant, Hal Jones Post, No. 128, The American Legion, Hondo, Texas.

With best wishes, I am,
Sincerely,
FRED E. YOUNG,
Department Adjutant.

IDA LENA BADER.

(Nee Frerichs.)

Take Thou my hand, O Father, And lead Thou me, Until my journey endeth, Eternal-ly.

Alone I will not wander One single day; Be Thou my true Companion And with me stay.

It is a source of great comfort to know that we have an Unseen Companion to accompany our journey through life, who does not forsake us either at the end of our days. Much more is this true when one is physically hampered and weak due to illness, and who must bear a heavy cross for many years.

This was true of Mrs. Alfred A. Bader who passed from this earthly toil to her heavenly home on Tuesday morning, June 22, 1937, at 9:30 o'clock. Hers was indeed a hard lot considering the illness she suffered and it was indeed a sweet release when her soul was called from her.

Ida Lena Bader was the second of five children born to John Frerichs and his wife, Anna, nee Bless. This event which brought joy to the parents occurred on June 8, 1895, in San Antonio, Texas. When the departed was two years of age the family moved to Medina County and made their home. Here the deceased went to school at the Leinweber settlement and later spent 3 years in the Hondo public school.

The Christian parents had their child baptized at St. John's Lutheran Church, New Fountain, by Rev. C. Czerkus, and after due instruction she was confirmed in the first class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Hondo, Texas, by Rev. A. Falkenberg, who conducted the rite in the Methodist church since there was no building as yet for the Lutherans. This was on September 6, 1908. It is interesting to know that Ida Bader is the first one from this class of nine to be translated from the church militant to the church triumphant. The departed remained a life-long member of this church.

On July 13, 1917, she became the happy bride of Alfred Bader. The couple made their home in Hondo most of their married life except for the year 1924 when they lived at Del Rio, and in 1925 at Kerrville. The Lord blessed this home with 3 children, and the deceased proved a faithful mother to them.

Ida Bader possessed a likeable disposition and had many friends. She was of a retiring nature, but this was also provoked no doubt by her illness.

Some people excel in activity and accomplishment. For some the greatest virtue is patient and passive submission to a heavy cross. The latter is true in the life of the departed. During the last 19 years of her life she had been ill. During this course of time she underwent four operations in the hope that a remedy could be found for the ill and a cure effected. Having a very hardy constitution, Mrs. Bader survived these operations and seemed to find some improvement. The last ailment led to a final operation on May 27th at the Santa Rosa Hospital, where the previous operations were held. The patient survived and was removed to the Medina Hospital at Hondo two weeks later. Here she received sympathetic as well as skilled nursing by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Bertraver. Everything was done to meet her wants and desires, but she was beyond human help. The Church administered to her in these trying days and Mrs. Bader greatly appreciated this. She partook of Holy Communion on the day before her end. After days of intense pain Mrs. Bader was released when she departed this life, breathing the last on Tuesday morning, June 22, at 9:30 o'clock. She attained the age of 42 years and 14 days. Her faithful husband, who is deeply grieved over the loss of his good wife, was at the bedside to the end.

Besides her husband, the departed leaves three children to mourn the loss of a good mother. They are Floyd, 19, Freddie, 16, and Jonell, 14. Among the survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Emilie Oefinger, Hondo, Mrs. Elizabeth Harralson, Phoenix Arizona, and Miss Annie Frerichs San Antonio; and one brother, Willie Frerichs of Prescott, Arizona. There are a large number of relatives and friends who sympathize with the bereaved.

Funeral services were conducted from the Horgan funeral home, Hondo, on Thursday, June 24, at 10 A. M. by Rev. W. C. Leibfarth, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Church's Influence Essential for Community Welfare

You Have Something for the Church

★ This is one of a series of inspirational messages that will appear in the Anvil Herald from week to week, bringing to you the views of Hondo clergymen.

This contribution to the religious welfare of this community is made possible through the generous co-operation of the business firms whose names are listed on this page.

Why a Church?

BY REV. P. J. POTGENS,
Pastor of St. John the Evangelist Church.

ONE CENTURY and three-score years ago, our Fathers, under the leadership of Washington, fought the great classical struggle for justice and right, for the God-given gift of freedom. What would have become of our nation and the great principles for which it stands, if the Father of our country, after that, had returned to his private life on the Potomac; if he had left the further development of Government to chance and caprice? All the advantages won and bought at such a price, would have been lost again; the sacrifice of so many lives been in vain. To avoid this, our present constitution was drawn up, our Government organized.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, came down from heaven on our behalf. He engaged in the most stupendous struggle for justice and right, for the liberty of our souls as children of God. Out of pure love for us, he offered the supreme sacrifice. He carried it to the extreme of the sublime height of the cross on Calvary. This, that he might free, not merely one, but all nations of the universe.

Would a God return to heaven, leaving the field of battle, surrendering man to his enemies again? So, Christ also drew up His constitution, organized His Government to teach, direct, and sanctify all. That organization is His Church. "Going, therefore, teach ye all nations; baptizing them, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you."

There is no phase of human life, no field of human endeavor which has not felt her salutary influence. Under her guidance, statesmen become wise leaders. Economics receives correct norms for peaceful settlement of disputes. Education found in her always an undaunted champion. Family life, under her influence, was lifted up and sanctified. It is still the same Church, as He founded it, because He guides it Himself. "Behold, I am with you all days."

Sometimes she has been maligned, even persecuted, as she is persecuted today, by those who are too small to understand her, or too ambitious to obey her, and cooperate with her as God-sent. She never took her authority from temporal powers and rulers. At times, she had to curb and correct them, always making for the common good of mankind, for peace among nations. Reminding strife-torn Europe up to the present day—"For God is not a God of dissensions, but of Peace". Averting, thus, the curse of war from the world, that millions might live. She is still the same church that has led the peoples of the world to mighty conquests in the field of civilization and education. Misunderstood very often, she has been called backward, or slow; at least, because she would not place the glittering dome on the temple of civilization before its foundation was solidly grounded.

Still the same is She, as at the times of the Apostles, instructing and directing mankind by her letters, or encyclicals. Pointing out the way for a peaceable solution in the strife between capital and labor. Upholding the sanctity of the home and Christian wedlock. In one word, directing her children to be, not only good Christians, but loyal citizens as well.

The Church Has Something for You

Man may err, and human ingenuity may fail. She can never err, nor can she fail, for: "Behold, I am with you all days". Also, we, her children, have a right to expect un-erring guidance through her, because the blind cannot lead the blind. On the other hand, the Church has a right to our confidence and obedience, because it is God Who summons us through her. Our word, "Ecclesiastic", that is pertaining to the Church, literally means to summon, or to call together. (Ekkletos, Greek). Our "church", coming from the Anglo-Saxon "Circe, or Chirche", which in turn is derived from the Greek "Kuriakon", means the Lord's House, where we live in loving union with, and subject to, Him.

All this explains how the Church's influence is essential for the welfare of a community. Different are our vocations in life, different our individual interests. We drift apart, and grow selfish, if we are not reminded by God, through the Church, that we have one Father, and that the interests of the community are also the interests of the individual. The lawgiver labors in vain, if not Christian Charity bring us together as members of one community.

Ah! if those outside, or those poorly instructed, would see the Church as she really is, they would rise up with her children in reverence, "and call her blessed". Consider what you lose, and what you gain in entering the Church of Christ. Your loss is nothing in comparison with your gain. You do not surrender your manhood or your dignity, or your independence of reasoning powers. You give up none of the essential truths, and good things you already possess. You exchange opinion for certainty. You are no longer "tossed about by every wind of doctrine".

In coming to the Church, you are not entering a strange place, but you are returning to your Father's home. In coming back to church, you worship where your forefathers worshipped before you. You kneel before the altar at which they knelt; you receive the Sacraments of Life, which they received. You come back like the Prodigal Son to the home of your father and mother. The garment of joy is placed upon you, and, with adoption and filiation, a long desired peace will enter your heart.

One hearty embrace of the Church, your tender Mother, will compensate you for the little sacrifice it may entail, and you will explain with the great penitent Augustine: "Too late have I known Thee, O Beauty, ever ancient and ever new, too late have I loved Thee".

JUNE.

In June's the time of year to live
For she spreads a banquet throughout her days,
And man and nature their utmost give,
While nature's orchestra softly plays.
The fields will be ready for harvest
soon,
They ripen daily in fruitful clime,
And maidens under a yellow moon
Will choose this month for their wedding time.

I prize each hour of changing splendor,
I love each part, each passing phase,
I hope that next year, in mood as tender,
June will return with her charming days.

—J. E. ELLIOTT.

JUNE.

June is the bridal month,
The month of roses.
See, Spring and Summer
Have joined hands once more
In perfect union;
Flowers everywhere
Form bridal wreaths.
From every tree
Happy songsters
Have formed a festive choir.
At night the earth
Is a playground.
The sky above
Is a great tent,
Lit by the countless stars.
The stage is set
And for the June brides
We are waiting.

—A. S. DRAPER.

JUNE.

'Tis Springtime in the field and woods—
Springtime is here at last;
The amber clouds that float above
Give reminiscence of winter's blast.
Now through the woodland comes the call
Of robin, thrush and wren.
While on the hillside feed the kine,
The sheep feed in the glen.
In sunny clime O month of June—
The month that scented roses bloom;
A time that gentle south winds blow;
In Nature's field no brighter light doth glow.

—ROY CHANSLER

CONSTANCY.

The daisy fields have turned to brown,
That once were white as milk;
The corn-blades snap like crinoline,
That once were whispering silk.

A sense of urgency prevails;
The clouds are swift and high.
Before the sun has fully set,
A young moon claims the sky.

The chill of winter fills the air,
Transforming earth and sea,
Yet love, defying change or death,
Remains to sup with me.

—CORA REED DARGATZ.

HIDDEN CHARMS.

Winter
Is a cold bride
Dressed in white robes;
The kiss of spring awakes
The dormant beauty of her Inner soul.

—FLOZARI ROCKWOOD.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

She Looked at me with cool disdain,
This city woman proud and vain,
And said: "You are a farmer's wife?
It must be quite a lonely life!"

How could she know the beauty there
Of things for which she did not care?
The lure of woodlands, stretch of plains,
The singing winds and falling rains;
The sunlight's splendor down long lanes
Where shadows fall when daylight waned.

The cotton planted row on row
That ripens into fields of snow,
And billows 'neath the winds that ream
Into a sea of pure white foam

The seas of wheat and fields of corn,
The cock's shrill crow at early morn;
The cows that slowly wander home
Like shadows through the evening gloom.

The busy seasons that are spent
In round of work with pleasure blent
Beneath a gracious firmament,
With whispering trees 'twixt sky and sod
Where hearts are pulsing close to God!

—GRACE CARNES IRVINE.

TO A BRIDE.

Face a-glow, with radiance beaming,
Filled with happiness supreme.
Sparkling eyes, with love-light
gleaming,

Or misty with a maiden's dream.
Heart filled with anticipation,
Filled with hope that's so divine,
Dreaming of participation
In the joys of home that shine
Like the evening star at gloaming
Faithful beacon of the sky.
She cares not for pomp nor roaming
For her trust in life is high.
Faith in him who stands beside her,
Trav'ling side by side through life.
Lovely bride—may naught betide
her,

Future Mother—Loyal wife.

—ELEANOR A. TOTMAN.

SWEET REMEMBERING.

Every fleeting summer hour
Is the petal of a flower.
As they drift across time's grass
I must gather all that pass,
Store them in my memory
For a rose jar pot-pourri.
When the nights of winter seem
Last to fragrance, I may dream,
Stirring memory's petals then,
You and summer back again.

—DOROTHY P. ALBAUGH.

STILL WATERS.

A lake so silent and so still
No sound or murmurs stirs her depths
And yet beneath the sunlight
Or the moon's soft light
You can sense the mysterious beauty of night.

A marsh bird flutters skyward
And is lost in the blue
Only to be reflected by a calmness
Serene, yet true.
Yet, all alone she stands,
Visited by the stars,
Ever looking skyward,
Ever unafraid.
Thru wintry winter's piercing blast
Thru summer shade,
Blessed the man or blessed the maid
Who has spent an hour in this magic glade,
Refreshed, renewed, by her mysterious soul
For by silence eloquent
We sometimes reach life's goal
And written in her sands
We learn to understand.

—HELEN COSALY.

THE SWEETEST SONG.

The sweetest song I ever heard
Was one sung by a little bird,
God surely taught him how to sing,
So very early in the spring.

His heart, it is so very light,
From early morn' till late at night,
"Cheer up, cheer up," the whole day long.

There never was a sweeter song.

He comes to me at early morn,
And tells me a new day is born;
He comes to me again at night,
And sings to me with all his might.

Oh, Robin Redbreast is his name,
His song is of the sweetest fame,
These are the words he seems to say—

"Cheer up, cheer up," the live long day.

—MRS. DAISY BROOKING.

BIRD MOTHERHOOD.

Mother Bird,
Who have just heard
A cheep beneath your breast,

Do you see
In vision free
Your offspring as birds' best?

Are your dreams
Of glory's gleams
They'll follow in Fame's quest?

—LILLIAN MATHILDA SVENSON.

TO MY DOG.

As I look in your face,
And I search your soft eyes,
My old Pal, with your loyalty true;
How I wish I could trace
Beyond guess or surmise,
How devotion to man in you grew.

I am wondering when,
I am wondering where,
In the far distant days of the past,
These two pals—dogs and men—
Formed a fellowship rare
That was destined through ages to last.

I am wondering, too,
When you gave up the pack
And the forest paths vagrant and free,
If you found in the new,
Recompense for the lack
Of the joys which you gave up for me.

Could you tell all the tale
Of your dealings with man,
What an epic your story would make;
But I fear men would fail
That bleak record to scan,
Lest small credit therefrom they could take.

You have much to forgive,
Oh, so much to forget,
Of the oppression at man's cruel
whim;
Still you faithfully live
With your tyrant e'en yet,
And give service so loyal to him.

As you look up to me
With your limpid brown eyes,
I am shamed as I think of your love;
So much greater I see
Than devotion that lies
In my heart for my Master above.

—GEO. C. ALBORN.

PRELUDE IN LARGO.

What sculptured art uncovered by the moon's
Far glamor leaps across the conscious sight
To stir subconscious forces? Distant tunes
Are silences remembering some night
Of spring. What slower pulse akin to sleep
Is this that creeps along the frozen wires
Withheld by some hypnotic spell as deep
As inner thought, divested of its fires?

Yet beauty lives and longing is not dead.
Through sharpened air we sense a beating heart.
Only the aria of song has fled,
Leaving the form of winter prone—apart.

This prelude starts the transmutat-
ing scale
Of spring—this dream begins its musical.

—GRACE M. GRAVES.

ALCHEMY.

Quality

Needs must take
At times the Second best
And make the Best of it.

attractive gift for some friend, or be a cherished memento "among your souvenirs." While they last you can have them at fifty cents per volume or one dollar will pay for a two-year subscription to Farming and secure a copy of the bound volume.

St., New York, is offering $500.00 worth of prizes in varying amounts, from $50.00 down, for poems suitable for printing in their forthcoming anthology, "Christmas Lyrics of 1937."

FARMING prefers that you send only one poem at the time for the Garden, that it be timely, and that sible. You do not have to be a subscriber to secure publication, but your subscription will be appreciated.

You and a friend can both have the paper for the price of one subscription. Why not raise us a club?

Had we so far departed from the teachings of the fathers as to favor a unicameral—a one body—legislature over our time-honored dual system, the action of the Texas house and senate taking opposite sides on Roosevelt's mad scheme to destroy the integrity of the Supreme court would have brought us back to a realization of the wisdom of the provision of "checks and balances" so essential to the safety of a peoples' government.

—oOo—

Of the crass pieces of class legislation ever foisted upon a law-cursed people the laborer's old age pension measure is the limit. It constitutes the employer both the guardian of his employe's life-insurance and tax collector for Uncle Sam, without compensation from either and at the employer's risk and expense. Meantime, the employer is left to the tender mercies of time and chance to determine whether his business nets him a competency or he becomes a mendicant through failure. And the courts have denied any relief!

—oOo—

As so pointedly emphasized by our contributing editor, Fred W. Davis, on the front page, "plenty is the best possible security and scarcity is the worst possible form of insecurity". The provident farmer will seek to avoid the latter by making as sure as possible of the former. Now is the harvest time begun on the farm, and he who preserves the greater abundance of provender on his farm will be longest assured against want should lean days return. "Waste not"—that which is produced on the farm; "want not"—that which is now yours for the saving, "is the safest rule"! Now as always.

—oOo—

Texas has paid rather dearly for her essay into the business of race-horse gambling—it taking a special session of the legislature to repeal the law which put the state not only into the business of sharing in the funds mulcted from the suckers who thought to beat the ponies, but in the more shameful business of devoting part of the ill-gotten funds to educating (?) the children of the state. Eschewing it as beyond our province to be our brother's keeper, he may gamble who will so far as we are concerned; but we object when our state goes into partnership for a share in the spoils. Good riddance to the pari-mutuals!

—oOo—

If another instance were needed to emphasize the importance of avoiding hasty and ill-advised legislation, the furore through which Texas is passing over horse-racing affords one in point. Thinking the state had definitely and permanently committed itself to a partnership in the gambling business—where the gambler braces a game in which he is sure to lose—certain parties have invested large sums of money in racing plants and paraphernalia. With the repeal of the racing law the value of these investments is practically destroyed and the losers are without recourse for damages against the state. Having encouraged the investment, the state should be compelled to protect the investor's equity in the property. A strange travesty on justice that would estop the state from taking the property without compensation in defense against an armed invader and permits its wanton destruction in a doubtful crusade against a vice as old as the human instinct to take a chance!

FARMERS HAVE THE POWER.

"As Governor Lehman of New York recently said: 'The farmers have ALL THE POWER TO SOLVE EVERY MAJOR PROBLEM.' This power lies IN COOPERATIVE ORGANIZATION TO DISPOSE OF FARM PRODUCE TO THE BEST ADVANTAGE, AND TO RAISE IT MOST ECONOMICALLY AND SCIENTIFICALLY.

"It is a fact that the tens of thousands of farmers belonging to well established marketing cooperatives have gone far ahead of unorganized farmers in the last decade. Such co-operatives provide what individual farmers lack—mass bargaining power, equal in size and strength to that of wholesalers and distributors. They place the farmer on an even footing with those to whom he sells. This has been one of the most encouraging phases of agricultural development in recent years."

All of which, taken from the Industrial News Review, is in the main correct.

But no matter how perfect is co-operative machinery and how skillful its management, farmers as a class will labor in vain so long as they remain step-children to a GOVERNMENT ADMINISTERED IN THE INTEREST OF MONOPOLISTS WHO control money and credits in the interest of international bankers; WHO control the farmers' markets through tariff manipulations; and WHO make the prices of farm produce in gambling dens in defiance of the laws of supply and demand.

Neither can the dealing out of doles by a paternalistic government, like bribing a sick child to take his medicine disguised as candy, ever restore the farmer as a class to his rightful sphere of lord of creation from which he has been usurped by the lords of high finance and their pliant tools—the time-serving politician and the demagogue.

They teach false doctrine who seek to inculcate the hope of relief without removal of the cause of agriculture's ills.

They labor in vain who work to restore agriculture to its rightful place in the scheme of things yet neglect:

To provide him with a domestic currency supplied by the government and free of the manipulation and toll-taking of private monopolists who are now sapping him of his sustenance.

To provide him with a metallic currency—gold, silver, copper or, if need be, wampum—easily convertible into the money of any other nation of the world that may seek his trade.

To provide freedom of trade intercourse without any artificial restrictions, so that his produce may find easy flow into the market channels of every mart in the world.

To outlaw the futures gamblers who manipulate the prices of his produce up or down in defiance of economic law, as suits their purpose best to rob the producer at one end or the consumer at the other, and thus deprive the farmer of the benefit of a free operation of the great economic law of supply and demand.

Give us statesmen of heroic mold who, like the skillful surgeon, will cut away these sloughing sores on the economic body and, removing the cause, permit a natural and permanent recovery.

Recovery we can not have so long as the virus remains to poison the system and the patient, like a fevered child, is lulled to sleep with a cold application on his fevered brow or his fretfulness is stilled by a bribe of sweets—the fulminations of self-serving demagogues and the doles of a deceitful and self-designing paternalistic government.

—oOo—

Recent actions of the "nine old men" constituting the supreme court emphasize most pointedly that courts are just as human as other mundane institutions, and are not above being influenced by the popular clamor and political trends of the times. Recent decisions can be explained only upon the theory that the majority of the court sought to so frame the decisions of that body as to hold with the wishes of the administration in power. They are said to have gone so far as to have actually surprised the administration itself. Small wonder the country heaved a sigh of relief when the court recessed! Now if Congress would emulate its illustrious example and do the same.

THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL.

The passage of the anti-lynching bill in Congress would be a tragic thing for the South, to which section the law is directed.

There are conditions under which mobs in this country will take the law into their own hands, and no federal anti-lynching law can stop them. The truth of the matter is that if the anti-lynching law is passed and enforced there are parts of the South where snooping federal agents would be lynched as quickly as anyone else.

The rest of the country will never fully understand the South's side of the race question. The passage of the law is, however, an emphatic reminder of what we may expect in this part of the country when the president's supreme court measure passes.

Unmindful of it, perhaps, the party in power is promoting the spirit of civil war in this country.

The foregoing straight-from-the-shoulder talk is from the Gilfport, Mississippi, Guide, edited by Clayton Rand, President of the National Editorial Association.

The deplorable thing about it is that it is true.

Editor Rand knows what he is talking about; and this editor knows that he knows.

The wise always face the facts; is there any wisdom left in Congress?

If so be, let the wise address themselves to a removal of those "conditions under which mobs...will take the law into their own hands", as real statesmen would, and not invite conditions where even "snooping federal agents would be lynched".

—oOo—

It seems to be a human instinct, when once set in motion in a given direction, to "go hog-wild". In a spasm of moral revulsion over the malodor of pari-mutual horse-race betting, the administration at Austin shows a tendency to outlaw such harmless sports as giving "pelone" to please the children. Granting whatever moral stigma may attach to seeking or accepting something for nothing, the placing of such things as bank-night awards at movie theaters or community trades-day prize awards, where no one can lose because no one risks anything, in the category with pari-mutual betting, where ten shots and you are out of ammunition, is playing the "hog" in the pretense of well doing. Human beings should at least rise in the scale of animal sense from that of the hog to the horse when they set out to improve conditions.

—oOo—

One of the most deceptive things which mankind in his complex existence has to contend with is the question of price. We are accustomed to measure all values in the terms of dollars and cents. Therefore, when the farmer gets a dollar a bushel he thinks his corn is high and he is elated over the high price. Vice versa, when it is 25c, he bemoans the low price. But if the price of what he buys maintains the same relative level he is no better or no worse whether the price is high or low. High commodity prices means cheap money; low commodity prices means high priced money. What both producer and consumer are chiefly concerned in is stability of prices at an equitable level on all purchasable commodities. Any artificial disturbance of their equilibrium enriches some at the impoverishment of others.

CANNING FACTS.

Vegetables which are low in acid content and high in protein content contain spore bearing bacteria requiring a higher temperature and longer processing than do acid fruits and vegetables. Among these vegetables which Mrs. Homemaker is canning at this season are: Corn, snap peas, green beans, shelled peas and beans, okra, squash and carrots. In order to increase the temperature above boiling for these products, a pressure cooker is recommended.

Definite time and temperature are necessary for each product. In the following recipes, correct methods and temperatures are given:

CREAM STYLE CORN: Without precooking, remove the corn from the cob by shallow cutting through the grain and scraping. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and 2 teaspoons of sugar to each quart, and half as much boiling water as corn by weight. Heat to boiling. Fill into containers at once. Process immediately at 15 pounds pressure 250 degrees F.; pint glass jars for 75 minutes and No. 2 C enamel tin cans, 70 minutes.

CARROTS: Select young, sweet, tender carrots, 1 inch in diameter of a deep orange color. Sort, wash, and cook 5 to 10 minutes according to size. Scrape, fill container, using whole carrots. Add 1 teaspoon of salt to each quart and fill with hot water. Exhaust 5 minutes before sealing. Process under 10 pounds pressure at 240 degrees F., quart glass jars for 35 minutes, pint glass jars and No. 2 and No. 3 plain tin cans 30 minutes.

SNAP PEAS AND BEANS: Snap peas and beans should be about 1-4 inch in diameter, of a deep green color, crisp, tender and fleshy, with seeds not larger than pin heads.

PREPARATION: Wash thoroughly, snap the ends and cut into even lengths 1 1/2 to 2 inches. Cover with boiling water and simmer uncovered for about 5 minutes or until the beans are wilted and will bend without breaking. Pack hot into the containers and cover with hot water and add 1 teaspoon of salt to each quart. Process at 240 degrees F. or 10 pounds pressure, quart jars 35 minutes, No. 2 plain tin cans 25 minutes, and pint jars and No. 3 plain tin cans 30 minutes.

NELL L. FOLEY,

County Home Demonstration Agent.

SHORTAGE OF LAYING HENS IN PROSPECT FOR FALL AND WINTER MONTHS.

A heavy shortage of laying hens, with a corresponding increase in egg and poultry prices, is in prospect for the fall of 1937 and the early part of 1938, according to George P. McCarthy, assistant poultry husbandman of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

McCarthy said that high feed costs and low prices for poultry products had resulted in the heaviest culling program in recent years. The unfavorable price picture has also resulted in a decline in the purchase of baby chicks. McCarthy pointed out that commercial hatcheries have reported a 35 per cent decline in the sale of baby chicks.

With better egg prices in prospect, McCarthy urged that poultrymen give their pullets every chance to come into early production and to maintain production. "Poultrymen who feed their pullets properly during the summer and give them every opportunity to develop will be well repaid during the fall and winter," he said.

Not much chance exists of any unforeseen increase in the number of laying hens before well into 1938, according to McCarthy. June and July chicks have never proved profitable, and commercial hatcheries have suspended operations for the summer.

C. M. MERRITT,
County Agricultural Agent,
Medina County.

HORSE ON A HILL.

SUNSET sky and a wind That billowed his silver mane Had caught him there on the crest, Bright charger, free of the rein. There, for a swift, high moment, Shadowed on purple cloud, He was a steed from Ashby, Gleaming and white and proud, Then he stepped from light to shadow— Could he sense a dim, lost sorrow? There is rest in the stall tonight And a field to be plowed tomorrow.

—MAREL MORRILL in May Kaleidograph.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

As a matter of interest to taxpayers who have not paid their 1936 taxes this is to advise that the current 1936 taxes may be paid this month with a penalty of only 5 per cent, whereas, after June 30 the taxes will be placed on the Delinquent Tax Roll carrying 8 per cent annual interest, plus the cost of redemption.

Respectfully,
L. E. HEATH
Assessor and Collector.
